RAINSBORO.

February 27, 1905.

Prof. H. B. Galliett, of Samantha, was circulating among friends in town Saturday.

Jerome Gossett, of Waukomis, Oklahoma, is here on a visit to friends and relatives.

Those of our community who have been suffering with la grippe are nearly all able to be out again.

Miss Esther Redkey entertained a crowd of young folks on Saturday evening in honor of Misses Ada and Myrtle Baker, who have been spending a few days with friends and relatives in this vicinity.

The Colonial Box supper given by the ladies on the evening of the 22d, was very well attended. The receipts were about $10.

Mrs. Alice Hodge is slowly improving.

Mrs. Nancy Redkey has gone to Washington, D. C., to visit her sister, Mrs. Mary Milliken, and niece, Miss Ethel Skeene. While there she expects to meet Mr. and Mrs. Karney, of Perth Amboy, N. J. Mrs. Karney will be remembered as Miss Cora Skeene.

Misses Esther Redkey, Myrtle and Ada Baker and Niecea Beaver were entertained on Sunday by Miss Mary Spargur.

Our community was shocked to hear of the death of Walter Hiatt, the sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Hiatt. In alighting from a wagon the gun, which he was carrying in his hand, was struck against the tongue, the contents discharged lodging in the side and back of his head, killing him almost instantly. Funeral on Sunday at the residence conducted by Revs. Crothers and Kestle. Interment in Greenfield cemetery.

Our neighboring village of Bainbridge holds an election under the Beal law Tuesday, March 7. Petitions soliciting names of those who are in sympathy with the movement have been sent out in all directions in the surrounding country. The one in our vicinity is in the hands of John Rhoads, of Paint, who was here Saturday and we were glad to note that our citizens were responding without any hesitancy. A series of lectures in behalf of the cause the coming week. Special music is being prepared for the meetings and they promise to be very interesting and entertaining. Any of our citizens are cordially welcomed who find it convenient to attend.

Ruby, who was dining with her elders, was given her choice of her favorite desserts.

"Which will you have, Ruby, ice-cream or jam?" her indulgent father asked.

After a moment's hesitation she said, "Give me a little of each and a lot of both."
